Big Lot of Superb Animals in the Opening Class at the Nineteenth Annual Exhibition in the Garden.

STORMY WEATHER MARS AFTERNOON ATTENDANCE

Reginald Vanderbilt and His Brother Alfred Join Entries-Several Thoroughbreds Refuse to Take the Hedges.

The Horse is king-and the dressmaker is a power behind the throne. The Horse Show is open, and fashion's

There were no strikingly new features in this year's exposition of thoroughbreds. For the past eighteen years they and their sires and dams have been led, driven and ridden through the same paces. They step and dance over the tanbark to the same stirring strains of march and waltz

What there was of this year's novelties was not furnished by these spien-did specimens of the most intelligent animals on show, but by the incident to the show-society.

The opening of the nineteenth annual Horse Show was most auspicious. Never has there been a better list of entries or a keener interest shown by the public. The annual luncheon which preceeded the formal opening of the show was the most enjoyable ever given by the association.

The principal event of the luncheon was the speech made by Patrick F Munphy, president of the Mark Cross Company. Mr. Murphy is an afterdinner speaker who will undoubtedly be in great demand in the future. He has a fine fund of humor and epigrams. So deep was the impression he made that one of the guests suggested that the Nineteenth Annual Luncheon be marked down in history as the "year that Murphy arrived."

Rain Mars Attendance.

The inclement weather kept all but the enthusiastic horse lovers at home during the early exhibitions, and for those the horse and not the show is the attraction.

Foremost among those and in fact almost the earliest arrival, was Mrs. John L. Gerkin, who has never yet left John L. Gerkin, who has never yet left a horse show without a blue ribbon. There were several young horsewomen, among them Miss Charlotte R. Stillman, who came to see their horses exercised long before the real programme of the day began. As the day advanced, however, the box-holders—the real cream of society—began straggling in, and a goodiy number were on hand for the first event, the judging of the hunters, those great, raw-boned oreatures of magnificent muscle and sinew. There were fifty-three entries in this class, so that the matter of judging them occupied no little time. Though there were several gentlemen riders, the majority of the horses were pilleted over the jumps by grooms.

Hunters Refuse Hedges.

The tedium of judging such an unusual number of horses was relieved somewhat by the refusal of a number of flery thoroughbreds to force the hedges and the consequent discomfiture of the riders, one tidy little gentleman riding for the most part astride his mount's ears.

Canadian horseman. Robert E. Tod. recieved an ovation as he soared over the jumps with fine grace.

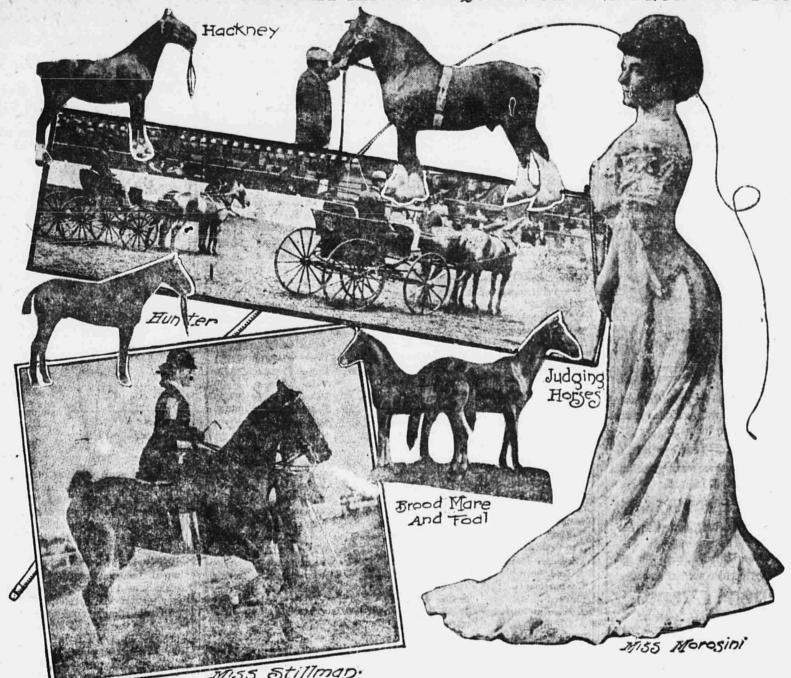

Vanderbilts Join Entries.

Beginald Vanderbilt was among the earliest arrivals. He has a large number of entries and spent some time visiting them in the stalls and advising with his grooms.

Shortly after noon he was joined by his brother, Alfred, with whom he has a number of Joint entries, and young Braddish Johnson. The town has no fire department and the citizens organized bucket brigades to fight the flames. A WARNING

TO THE PEOPLE OF NEW YORK CITY

Much Sickness Predicted This Fall; Early Precautions Should Be Taken

"Our seasons nowadays seem to be all mixed up." remarked a reporter the other day to a member of the Riker Co., our well-known druggists. "The winter seems to have tumbled into summer and summer into winter. It is stated by health authorities that such sudden changes cannot help but result in early fall colds, the grippe and other sickness. This condition of things is also bad for old people, or those who are run down or have a tendency to any weakness or disease."

"You are right." said this well-known druggist, "the weather indications all point to a cold, wet and generally unhealthy fall, and people are warned to take extra precautions to ward off sickness, especially the old and those who are already in delicate health.

If we could only meet every person i this city face to face and tell them what a grand protection to health Vinol is I know we could convince them so we would not have clerks enough in our store to fill their orders. You see, we have been selling Vinol for several years, and every bottle is sold on a positive guarantee that if it does not do as we say we will pay back the money, and as we have not been asked to refund for more than two bottles out of every hundred sold this proves that Vinol is success ful in ninety-eight cases out of every hun

We never sold a medicine that is so universally successful, and yet this is not strange, for Vinol is the enty preparation of cod liver oil which does not contain of or any disagreeable feature, yet does con tain every one of the fifty-odd medicinal curatives that are found in cod liver oil. If you know of any one who needs the grandest, surest, most pleasant tonic re-builder of strength, one that will positively cure chronic colds, coughs, bronchitis, strengthen the old, build up the weak and run-down and make rich, red blood, and health in place of pallor and weakness, just send them in here for a bottle of Vinol, and ir it does not do them good it won't cost them a cent. Riker's Drug Store, 6th Ave. and 23d St.

As this invitation is broad and the guarantee protects every person in New York City, we should advise every alling person to accept it.—Writer.
